LORE

You are Megan. You're ready to complete your journey into adulthood. Just one day short of 300 years alive, you slither across the sweaty knoll. To the town locals ahead, it looks as though you are alone, but they sense a strange presence around you. You cannot see the elders guiding you, but you will join their forces by the end of the moonset. Though stubborn, you have accepted that you need others to help you. You begin your quest to consume your candy / snacks / treats.
